APPLICATION
(Where the application is an application for judicial review)

This is an application for judicial review in respect of

Canada Revenue Agency (CRA)

On February 10, 2022, I received a letter from CRA dated on Feb. 7, 2022. This letter decided in its second review of my Canada Recovery Benefit (CRB) application that I was not eligible for the period of 12 months preceding my first application, on the grounds that "You did not earn at least $5000/- (before taxes) of self-employment Income in 2019-2020."
Reference Number C0041802240-001-45.

The applicant makes application for:

I ask that my CRB application for the Period mentioned above be granted

The grounds for the application are:

CRA believed that requested documents have not been submitted to confirm CRB eligibility.

Since the income was in the form of cash, a bulk was deposited in TD Bank in May 2020. And all the income and figures have been reported to CRA in 2019 & 2020 tax returns.

I have attached the following documents to show the income of Day Care & Fee collected as Cash from the parents on behalf of their childrens from July 2019 to Feb 2020

I Solemnly declare that the information is correct. Due to COVID-19, it affected my self-employment income since Mar.2020. I am confident that I am eligible to get CRB. If you wish, you can verify with parents that they have paid cash. Their contact no.s have been mentioned on the receipts.

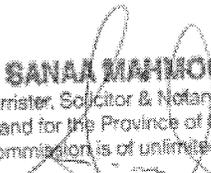

This application have been supported by the following material:

- 1). Copy of the Receipts from Parents of the day care childrens with their signature that they have paid cash
- 2). Scotia/TD Bank statements showing some deposits in 2019 and mostly in May 2020

I, Farah Sabena Khan, once again swear that the information stated above is a complete representation of the facts to the best of my knowledge.
