Application

This is an application for judicial review in respect of

Canada Revenue Agency

Incorrect assessment of CRA regarding CRB eligibility review. Received the assessment/review on OCT 3, 2022. Stated that I was ineligible for the CRB that I took even though I had submitted all the correct documents required on CRA's website. Reference number: C0044374931-001-45. Submitted T4s, ROEs, Pay Stubs, Bank account statements, Receipt from an Employer.

The applicant makes application for: Another review with a different agent who gives the time to review the application properly.

The grounds for the application are: Previous agent did not review it correctly I asked them to call me so that I can explain further but they did not. They just said I was ineligible even though I had submitted all the correct documents and had an income of over $8000 before I applied for my first CRB. I had even filed a Tax return with the same amount which was reviewed, assessed by CRA and they are even saying I owe them money on that. She made up new requirements which weren't stated by CRA earlier when I was apply for CRB. She said the receipt I got from the employer should be on official company letterhead, however, the employer isn't incorporated and or registered himself as a company, he adds his income from his business as extra income under the normal Tax return. The receipt even included employers SIN number. On CRA's website it says I need to submit receipt from employers but doesn't mention anything about it being on a letterhead as a requirement. If they want to make sure if this was correct or not, just contact the employer and talk to them. It is improper and unjust.

This application will be supported by the following material: T4s, ROEs, Employer Payment Receipt, Bank Statements, Letter I sent to CRA, Pay Stubs, Tax Return, Screenshots
